

PRESIDENT STATES REASONS FOR VETO*SENDS GREETINGS TO BIG HARD WARE CONVENTION TODAY.*TALKS OF STEEL BILL*Says It Would Have Worked Injustice to American Industries Had It Become a Law.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 24.—A letter from President Taft to G. H. Jantz, president of the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association and the National Hardware Association was read at today's session of the associations' convention. The letter reads as follows:

"I am very glad to send a message of greeting to the members of the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association and the National Hardware Association on the occasion of their annual joint convention. One of the members of your association wrote me the other day that what this country needs most is industrial peace. There can be no such peace in the absence of national prosperity and I am glad to believe that the members of your association are doing their full share to welcome the peace which is just at our doors by maintaining present economic business basis and by the encouragement of business expansion and progress through legitimate use of capital.

"I am a firm believer in a tariff board or tariff commission. I do not contend that the tariff can be taken out of politics in the sense that it will never be made the subject of political controversy. Men differ radically as to the economic wisdom of a protective tariff or a tariff for revenue only and that must always be the subject of political discussion, but there is a means of taking the ascertainment of facts away from a tribunal like the ways and means committee which is necessarily hurried in its conclusion and necessarily lacking in the thoroughness and temper which are essential to reach impartial conclusions.

Probably no industries affected by the tariff need scientific and impartial conclusion more than those which are represented in your connection. In my message of August 14 last, returning to the congress without my approval of the bill to revise the tariff schedule, I pointed out that in this schedule iron and steel as primary products are less than one third in value of the subject matter covered by the schedule.

I presented a table showing that included in the metals are 59 allied industries of sufficient importance to justify separate classification, study and report by the census bureau bureau. I pointed out further that four dry and machine shop products which are secondary products of the iron and steel industry are made by more than 13,000 competing establishments with an invested capital of more than $1 billion and a half dollars, with more than half a million wage earners employed and producing nearly a billion and a quarter dollars in value of products annually.

Every dollar of this capital and every workman employed in the industry was directly affected by this bill and I could not find either in the report of the committee on ways and means or in the discussion of this schedule that serious consideration had been given to the effects of this revision on this particular branch of the industry and the same thing is true of more than two-thirds of the industries covered in the schedule. There was a little logical relation between the reductions made by this bill and the schedule.

For example steam engines and machine tools in the present law are dutiable at 30 percent, in this revision steam engines were reduced to 15 percent and the whole machine tool industry was put on the free list without any reason whatever being given in the report of the ways and means committee in either case for the action. The term machine tools has always been the subject of much litigation and its scope should be clearly defined before the great variety of articles which it now seems to cover are placed on the free list. The expansion of our foreign trade would soon demand that a transfer to the free list like the one made in the bill of such an enormous range of undetermined products and the opening of the best market in the world to free and unrestricted competition should not be made without at the same time at least securing as is the case now of specified agricultural products the privilege of a like free entry into the market of our competitors.

I refer to these facts to bring home to the members of your association some of the dangers of ill advised political tinkering with the business. I vetoed the bill which would have spelled ruin to many of you because I was unwilling to approve legislation which virtually affected not only millions of working men and the families dependant on them, but hundreds of millions of dollars worth of stocks of goods on hand in the hands of storekeepers and distributors generally without first providing for a careful and disinterested inquiry into the condition of the whole industry.

"And so I say we must not make legitimate business the football of politics. We must have investments from which to secure a large wage fund which is needed to support the wage earners. We must inspire in the different men who control those investments the confidence that they will not be driven out of business.

"Let us put our shoulders together in a movement to promote the business prosperity of the country by frowning upon those attacks that are engendered not by real desire to eliminate abuses, but by a wish to arouse

Vera Cruz, Oct. 24.—Over-confidence in the popularity of his rebellion caused the downfall of Felix Diaz. Taken completely by surprise, the rebels were forced to lay down their arms and surrender with no chance to defend themselves. Most of the rebel officers, however, managed to escape during the confusion. Only nine officers beside Diaz were captured. Eduardo Cuesta, former chief of police of Vera Cruz, and Enrique Delgado, the military judge of the city, led a small force of volunteers against the troops under Gen. Castro, as the latter approached Vera Cruz. The volunteers fired a volley and Gen. Castro was slightly wounded. Hastily deploying in a line of skirmishes the federal advance guard opened fire and the rebel leaders fell dead. Then the advance on the city was continued quietly. Within a short time the main body of the rebels including Felix Diaz had been surrounded and compelled to lay down their arms. The entire government forces numbered less than 2,000 men.

Montevideo, Mex., Oct. 24.—As indicating that Pascual Orozco, a Mexican rebel chieftain aimed to send at least a part of his command to Tampico the report circulated here today that when a band of insurgents appeared at a ranch near Juan Felipe they declared that they were headed for the Gulf coast. They said they were part of Orozco's command. They demanded horses, got twenty and gave receipt for them, promising to pay for the animals at "the triumph of the revolution." It is presumed the command aimed to co-operate with the Diaz forces captured yesterday at Vera Cruz.

FORECASTERS UNABLE TO SOLVE SITUATION

POLITICAL SITUATION IN WISCONSIN HAS MANY STRANGE PHASES.

STATE IS A PUZZLE YET

Even to the Most Astute Politicians Who Can Not Fathom the Voters' Real Sentiment.

While Wisconsin is put down as one of the doubtful states by some of the able political donsters of the country, by others credited to the Taft, Bull Moose or Wilson columns, by the men who want it to go that way, still the fact remains the situation here is a puzzle that even the most astute forecasters are unable to solve.

Conditions right here in Janesville are a criterion of the situation throughout the state if newspaper reports can be relied upon. Here we find leading democrats who plan to vote for Taft, prominent Republicans who favor Wilson and some Republicans and some Democrats who are seeking Roosevelt's election. That for the national affairs although it is most certain that Taft will carry Janesville and Rock county by a handsome majority.

Turning to the state ticket the situation is even more acute. The old time dyed-in-the-wool republicans are offended at McGovern's attitude on national politics and promise to cut him from their voting lists. They will flock to Karel's standard. Of course the majority of the democrats will do likewise, but there are some led by the leaders of the old Alward-Schmidt-Darvis faction, who are not so enthusiastic. This is said to be true in almost every city in the country. Just what it means is doubtful. That McGovern will lose a large republican vote is certain, but will not the desertion of some of the democrats from Karel's standard, perhaps offset his chances?

That the state income tax law is going to play an important issue in the vote is certain. Karel is opposed to it, McGovern favors it. The charge of extravagance in state administration, of the University dabbling into politics are other claims that may work out in favor of the democratic rank and file vote, and bring about a political revolution. It is certain McGovern's jump to the Bull Moose platform has hurt his chances. In former years the vote for Presidential electors and the state ticket were on the same ballot but this year they are separate as the amendments to be decided. This means that it will be easier for men to split their tickets than formerly. Then party loyalty made a cross at the head of the ticket and that carried the tail with the hide, now they must vote separately and give their time to think.

While the republicans talk of cutting the state ticket out of their vote, there is no indication that this will be done as regards the county officers or the senate or assembly. There may be some cutting of the senate and assembly vote, but it is not anticipated it will be large enough to send democrats to the next legislature.

The county ticket has strong men on the republican side of the fence and they will doubtless receive their usual republican majority. Unfortunately the name of Stanley Dunwiddie, a republican candidate for the district attorneyship was left out of the list published yesterday and it is to be regretted. However Mr. Dunwiddie has made good in the office and is certain of reelection. The following is the list of candidates:

For County Clerk, Howard W. Lee. For Treasurer, F. F. Livermore. For Clerk Circuit Court, Jesse Earle. For District Attorney, Stanley G. Dunwiddie. For Register of Deeds, P. P. Smiley. For Sheriff, Casius S. Whipple.

The canceling of Governor McGovern's address and the substitution of a speech by Senator La Follette, promise to help the state ticket's cause and the democrats plan to offset that by bringing Judge Karel here for a talk just before election. Taking it all in all the muddle right here in Janesville is a criterion of the state at large and it is no man's battle until election.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Rowlands Gave First Number on Lecture Course Under Auspices of King's Daughters' Society.

At the Baptist church last evening the first number on the lecture course under the auspices of the King's Daughters' Society, an illustrated lecture by Mr. and Mrs. Rowlands, was given. Mr. Rowland spoke on the subject, "Blowing Bubbles," and his remarks were illustrated by cartoons and sketches by Mrs. Rowlands. Taking the story of the old hermit of Mt. Zear and his soap bubble pipe, who inspired the Carthaginians to go out and work to accomplish the dream desires they thought they saw pictured in the bubbles, as a basis, Mr. Rowland gave it a modern application. The men and women of today, who dream dreams and then work to accomplish them, he said, are the ones who make their mark in the world.

Take this wonderful Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute—contains no quinine—belongs in every home. Tastes nice.

Expression of Sympathy.
At the close of the lecture last evening, it was decided that a telegram should be sent to the Rev. J. C. Hazen at East Palestine, Ohio, by the congregation of the church, expressing their sympathy with him in his bereavement over the death of his mother.

LEAVES HOME OBSCURE; RETURNS TWO YEARS LATER, FAMOUS YET UNSPOILED

Kansas City.—When the news reached Kansas City a few weeks ago that Felice Lyne was about to return home from abroad, the old home folks and friends wondered whether she would be the same modest, unassuming girl that she was before she went away.

Less than two years ago Felice Lyne was little known even in her native city. Many friends recognized her as an exceptional voice, a few an exceptional will. Perhaps none an exceptional will. Perhaps none dreamed that a wonderful future for her as a prima donna lay just ahead. Then she went to England. The world has heard of her immediate and wonderful success in the English capital. Kansas City people had heard, too. They had read of her achievements in London, her instant acclamation by the most conservative critics in the world, her reception and praise by the most exclusive Queen Mary, her dizzy ascension to world fame in

SINGLE BALLOT FOR SUFFRAGE QUESTION

Other Three Amendments to Be Voted on Appear at Bottom of State and County Ticket.

The woman's suffrage amendment to the state constitution to be voted on at the general election will appear on a single ballot for that matter alone. The law provided that this ballot shall be of pink paper. The other three amendments proposed, which will be submitted to a referendum vote, will appear at the bottom of the state and county ticket which is to be printed on white paper. This is in accordance with the provision of the law passed at the last legislature.

County Clerk H. W. Lee has received copies of the three sample of local ballots to be used on Nov. 5th and he also received the certifications to the names to appear on the ballots from the secretary of state's office yesterday.

The presidential ballot, the law provides, shall be on blue paper. According to the lists sent out there will be six presidential tickets for the voter to choose from at the coming election. Four of them—the democratic, republican, social democratic and prohibition, will have the nominees for president and vice-president and the list of electors printed under the party name. The other two parties—the national progressive and the socialist labor, will appear under the title "Independent."

The county clerk is busy preparing the copy for the printers for the various ballots and it will be delivered to night or tomorrow. The Free Press Publishing company of Beloit will print the presidential ballots, and the other two will be printed by the Gazette company.

There will be prayer meeting at 11 o'clock and Sunday school at 11:45 at the Methodist church next Sunday, the repairs being about completed.

Mrs. J. W. Branger spent Wednesday in Janesville.

Mrs. Frank Blackford of Janesville was the guest of Brodhead friends on Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Nickell, Rev. J. Lloyd Smith and Miss Jessie Sherman and Miss Helen French went to Monroe Wednesday to attend the Sunday school convention.

Mr. and Mrs. London Blackbourn are with friends in Dunbarton.

a night. And there had been stories of an unfriendly encounter with an impressario—the sort of thing that makes some people say, "I told you so—they all get spoiled and think themselves too big for anybody."

But when the little prima donna appeared on the concert stage here the other night—the first of Kansas City had seen of her in nearly two years—it could not have taken two looks to see that she had not been spoiled, that she had not been dilly on her passage to the heights, that if her education still demanded that she be graduated from high school, she could tuck her books under her arm and take her place among the Kansas City girl, nor lack anything of their earnestness and modesty.

When she appeared on the stage, such a quiet little figure, so modest, so unostentatiously refined in every look and movement, there could not have been a common outburst of applause, her very looks and manner. Instead of inviting an ovation, seemed to say: "I am one of you; I have been far from home and through many trials; if you will hear me patiently I will let you hear what others have been good enough to praise."

Homecoming for Felice Lyne was not a delight in having surpassed her former schoolmates, but a rather serious accounting for how she had spent her graduate days. So Kansas City gave her an affectionate welcome. It recognized in her a great singer—yes; but a girl whose greatness was not confined alone to her voice.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Sport Snap Shots

by Don McCarty

A means has been found whereby the speed of a pitcher may be accurately tested. Across a disc-shaped opening are stretched a number of lightly charged electric wires so fine that the break of them expands but an infinitesimally small portion of the velocity of a thrown baseball. Five feet behind these wires is a steel plate, also charged. The ball is hurled into the opening. The exact time from the breaking of a wire until the background is hit is registered. By calculating the distance of five feet with the fractional second consumed in traversing it, the happy result is arrived at.

The first pitchers to test their speed with this device have been Walter Johnson, of the Washington Americans, and Nap Rucker, the fork hand speed boy of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Johnson established conclusively that he is the speediest hurler, for the device showed that his pitch travelled 125 feet per second, while the best record Rucker could make was 115 feet.

Johnny Evers is said to have been picked as next year's manager of the Chicago Cubs. President Charles W. Murphy of the club declared a few days ago that he would have as leader next year the youngest playing manager in the league and a man who will live and vote in Chicago. Which, of course, excludes Chance. Murphy did not give the name of the man whom he has selected.

"Johnny Kilbane is too popular."

EDGERTON ELEVEN WILL MEET BELOIT

Close Game is Predicted Between Two Teams on Line City Gridiron - on Saturday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Oct. 24.—The high school team will go to Beloit, Saturday, to play against the Line City boys. Beloit defeated Evansville, 21 to 0, and Edgerton also won from Evansville, the score being 25 to 12. As this score might indicate, there will be a fast game at Beloit, Saturday. Coach McCrea has the team in good running order, and is now aiming for more speed in general, especially in the backfield.

HARVARD FOOTBALL CAPTAIN HAS "TIN EAR"; PLAYS WITH HEAD IN BANDAGE

Captain Percy Wendell and Head Coach Percy Haughton.

Captain Percy Wendell is one of the latest additions to Harvard's list of injured. He received a severe blow on the head during football practice last week and is suffering from what the players call a "tin ear." This is painful although not serious, but Wendell will have to be careful for some time and will have to play guardedly with his head swathed in bandages and protected by an especially heavy helmet. He did not play in last Saturday's game.

SUN SETS ON AL KAUFMAN'S HOPES; LAST BOUT WITH MCCARTY HIS UNDOING

Luther McCarty putting finishing touches on Al Kaufman at San Francisco.

When Luther McCarty, the giant Nebraskan, put Al Kaufman out of the running in two rounds at San Francisco recently, the sun set on Kaufman's hopes. The Californian had hoped in the McCarty fight to win back the reputation which has been slipping away from him, but instead of that he showed his weakness more than ever before. McCarty dropped Kaufman three times with lefts and rights to the jaw and once sent him clear through the ropes. Police stopped the bout in the second round.

scorers. Ryan kicked both of the goals.

The reason the first team played so ragged was the fact that they were only using their new plays, given them the night before. These plays worked well at times for long gains. The teams battled until it was too late to see the ball, only by the large moon which was present in full bloom.

Tonight the Sophs and Juniors will battle in the first class game of the season, with the Junior-Senior struggle scheduled for tomorrow night.

BASEBALL MAGNATE FIGHTS FOR HIS LIFE

He is under the care of a famous specialist and other leading physicians. He attended the first world's series contest, but physicians forbade him from witnessing any of the succeeding games.

WHY NOT FOLLOW SUIT?

Racine county has a gravel pit, and has just discovered a way to work it, as will be noticed by the following news item:

"A workhouse will, probably, be established by Racine county and in it will be confined vagrants, persons serving time for misdemeanors, wife deserters, inhuman persons who have been arrested and others who may be sentenced to serve jail terms." During the day the prisoners will do work for the county, probably being employed in the gravel pit and in the improving of highways.

"District Attorney W. W. Storms suggested to the county board of supervisors the establishment of a workhouse and the suggestion was quickly adopted and Supervisors McCaughey, Mutter and Horlick were appointed members of a committee to determine the cost of constructing and equipping a workhouse and report at the regular meeting of the board next month. No opinion was expressed as to the location of the workhouse.

"It has been determined that the county shall equip the gravel pit at Burlington as without equipment the pit is of no value to the county. To properly equip the pit a steam shovel, conveyor, crusher and bins must be purchased and it is estimated that it will cost between $5,000 and $6,000. Every town of the county is desirous of obtaining gravel from the county pit and although the county has owned the pit several months and built a siding to it, not a yard of gravel has yet been shipped as the county has been unable to engage persons to operate the pit."

Gravel is a luxury in Racine county, while with us it is so common that we have not yet discovered its value. The government engineer, who was here two years ago, said that we had the finest material at hand, for streets and roads, of any city in the land, and was surprised that we should waste money on a stone crusher plant, when gravel was so much better, in every way.

At Fontana, Geneva Lake, is a gravel bank owned by the Interurban road. A crusher is operated at small expense, and thousands of cars are shipped every year. There is nothing like crushed gravel for a top dressing, and nothing better than coarse gravel for a foundation.

Walworth county has just completed two miles of road built of this material, under state supervision, which it would well pay the street commissioner and county road superintendent to examine. It is a waste of time and money and the poorest kind of economy to use poor material on street and road work. The best is at hand. Why not use it?

So far as the employment of drunks and petty criminals is concerned, the practice should be adopted by every city and county. The same list of names on our court records, month after month, is proof of the fact that a few days' sentence in the jail is not a punishment. What this class of men need is 60 days' work. This would help the city, and might prove a good regulator. Racine is on the right track and Rock county can afford to follow suit.

Some enterprising individual has put the city of Racine on the map for re-assessment. If there is any fool law that needs repealing, it is the law that confers the power of complaint on a single taxpayer. Janesville has had the experience.

Senator La Follette said in his Sparta speech: "I have had some experience with two year old progressives, who haven't cut their 'milk teeth'." Wonder if he meant McGovern?

The city is to be congratulated on having a good city attorney. That he will be heard from in the crusade against vice, recently inaugurated, is not a question of a doubt.

PRESS COMMENT.

Where Senator La Follette "Is At." Evening Wisconsin.—As Senator La Follette's work on the stump progresses what was indicated at the outset becomes evident—he is not campaigning for McGovern or for the Republican party, but for himself. He is not even aiming to keep the party together, but to have a breakup occur in such a way as to enable him to make the greatest possible profit from the wreckage.

In his address at La Crosse last night he said, "I do not propose to Contentment. (By convict 41144) I don't care if it hails or blows, Or if it shines or if it pours, Or if it steers or if it snows, For I don't have to go outdoors.

I don't care how the statesman yells Or how he yells or how he screeches, He cannot hold me 'neath his spells, I do not have to hear his speeches.

I don't care how the prices soar, High cost of living is a joke, I have no right to make a roar, I am not stung like other folks.

I do not care how agents roam From house to house to sell their wares, They can't molest me in my home, And add unto my load of cares.

I care not how young ladies scream And call it singing, I don't hear 'em. I've got 'em faded. That's no dream, Because I do not have to hear 'em.

I care not how the actors rave And rant and gabble in their shows, Let Hamlet wall beside the grave, Thank goodness I don't have to go.

I pity the poor folks outside. From all their troubles I am free, I'm rid of pests I can't abide, They can't break in and worry me.

From the Hickeyville Clarion. There wasn't much excitement at James Spinks' funeral, only an ecclesiastic fit by Miss Phyllis Swank and three runaways. Hod Peters' roan mare, Cynthia, won the race home from the graveyard, beating Deacon Stubbs' bay gelding by two rods.

Amos Butts, our congenial undertaker, says business is so poor he has rented the top part of his nickel plated hearse to William Tibbitts for a show case and has made two racin' skulries out of the wheels.

The Ladies' Literary society has started a crusade against the smoke nuisance and Grandma Bibbin has been warned to throw her pipe away.

The preachers say everything on this earth has some use, but, by gravity, I'd like to know what use the letter "P" has on the front end of "pneumonia."

Pitchin' quotes is all the go in this man's town. There ain't much news in the paper this week because Mrs. Ye Editor didn't attend the Ladies' Aid meeting.

Improvements in Machinery. In the nineteenth century 20 feet a minute was regarded as a good standard rate of cutting, for a planing machine. To-day 40 feet a minute may be considered the standard.

An Inconvenient Time. Rockford Register-Gazette.—It was a rather sorry spectacle made of Marshall, candidate for vice-president on the democratic national ticket, when the race-track gambling broke out in full swing at Porter, Indiana, of which state Marshall is governor, just when he was at the height of his oratorical fight on what the democrats would do to the national government. Eloquence sometimes inverts itself.

Might Have Tried It Out. Wausau Record-Herald.—If Woodrow Wilson really had a remedy for the trust evil—a remedy which he clearly understood and in which he had perfect faith—does anybody doubt that he would have tried to put it in operation in New Jersey. Possibly he might not have succeeded, but he would at least have the trial to his credit.

Still Another Reason. Racine Journal-News.—Tom Lawson says Wall street is in fear of Taft and that the "system" looked for a dark horse. If Wall street is afraid that is a good reason Taft should be re-elected.

Startled 'Em. Telephones have become so common nowadays that four women in our neighborhood yesterday were actually startled when they saw a man running for a doctor.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

There has been very little news from West Hickeyville lately and investigation proves that our West Hickeyville correspondent died in the south during the Spanish-American war and forgot to send in his resignation.

Any barber that wants to commit suicide in a nice genteel way can move to this town and starve to death with neatness and dispatch. Uncle Ezra Jones winds his whippers around his neck for a muffler and Grandpa Bibbins wraps his around his waist for a belt to hold his overalls up.

William Tibbitts has bought a second-hand hearse to use for a delivery wagon. Reginald Madge, the art student, has just wrote home that he has had the pleasure of seeing a Rubens picture. Gee Whiz, if he would come home he could see plenty of 'em in real life.

Abijah Wicks, who runs our hotel, says there ain't much money in the hotel business now, as on account of the financial stringency most of the drummers put up at the Farmers' Ten-Cent Feed barn. Prof. Jimkey says the clarinet is one of the hardest instruments to learn to play on, and by gravity, it is also one of the hardest to listen to.

Fall Fashions for Men. Vests will button up the front this fall. According to advanced styles this season nearly all of the real nifty trousers will have two legs. The watch pocket will be in front and the chewing tobacco pocket behind.

The hats will be plain this year and very few aligrettes or willow plumes will be worn. Silk hats will be worn by gentlemen who are trying to burst into society, also by corn doctors and undertakers.

Red flannel undershirts have gone out of style among the more particular dressers.

Undecided. Father doesn't know just where he is at, he's fussed for fair. Cannot get much sleep at night, And his temper is a fright.

There's no spark of joy for him; Seems as tho' he's lost his vim. Work is coming to an end And he hasn't got a friend.

Anyhow, he looks that way. Hasn't got a word to say. Doesn't know which way to turn; Can't feel cheerful worth a darn.

He is in a dreadful fix— Makes his coin in politics.

"Reduce Your Fat." James Flynn of Idaho was 14 years old on the first of July and weighed 180 pounds. He was so fat that the doctors feared for his life. Then he took a walk, got lost in the mountains, and was not found for a month. He had lived on roots and berries, and slept in a cave, and his weight had come down to 105 pounds. If you are too fat the remedy is to get lost. If you are not eaten up by the bears you will come out all right.

What Hurts Most. "I tell you," said Sinick, "men are getting so deceitful these days that you can't trust your best friends—" "And what's worse," interrupted Borroughs, gloomily, "you can't get your best friends to trust you."—Philadelphia Press.

LA FOLLETTE HERE TO ADDRESS VOTERS SATURDAY EVENING

Wisconsin Senator Robert M. La Follette will be in Janville on Saturday evening of this week and will give an address at the Myers Theatre at October 26—At Beloit in Afternoon.

United States Senator Robert M. La Follette will be in Janville on Saturday evening of this week and will give an address at the Myers Theatre at eight o'clock in the evening. Word was received to this effect by Frank P. Starr, chairman of the county republican committee, late last night.

Senator La Follette will speak in Beloit Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Grand Theatre. He comes from Whitewater where he speaks in the morning. He will proceed from Beloit to Janville by interurban or automobile immediately after the address in the afternoon.

The appearance of La Follette in this city will be an occasion for a large gathering of his followers in this section of the state. His opinion on the state and national situation will be heard with considerable interest.

According to Mr. Starr there has been no change in the arrangement for Gov. F. E. McGovern's appearance in this city on the evening of the 31st.
Whether there will be other republican orators here before election day is not known but it is proposed to have several other speakers at several of the smaller cities and towns of the county.

FIND GOODS STOLEN SEVERAL YEARS AGO

Twenty Pairs of Trousers and Coat Discovered in House in This City
—Taken From Beloit Firm.

While following a clue which it was thought would lead them to goods stolen from the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, the Beloit detective for the railway, and Patrolman Sam Brown yesterday came up on twenty pairs of trousers and a corduroy coat stolen from a Beloit clothing manufacturer eight years ago. The clothing was found in a house near the railway tracks, the necessary search warrant having been secured. Price marks, style and lot marks were still on them, and there were several pairs of shoes with the marks off and in the process of being worn out. Those with the marks on were carried away by the officers who sent word to the Beloit factory from which they were taken.
They knew nothing of the thefts but were able to determine when the clothing was taken by the marks on it.
The clothing was taken back to Beloit.

It was learned that the man in whose home the trousers and coat were found had once been a night watchman in the factory. Members of the firm believe that he took the trousers away one at a time, hiding them in his lunch basket, but the man said he took them all at once.

CITY HAS RECEIVED NEW STREET SWEEPER

Studebaker Patent Improved "Acom" Sweeper to Replace One That Was Struck by Train.

A Studebaker patent improved
"Acom" street sweeper, to replace the one destroyed about three months ago when a Northwestern train struck it on the North Academy street crossing, was received and unloaded by the city today. It has a four foot broom on foot longer than the old one. The machine is claimed to be better adapted for the purpose of removing fine dust from macadam streets, preparatory to oiling, than any other sweeper on the market. The council had this purpose especially in view when the purchase was made, as it will undertake the oiling of streets next season. The adjustment of the broom is automatic and the operation of the machine is under easy control of the driver without leaving his seat. The Northwestern railway settled with the city for the destruction of the old sweeper for $250. The new one costs just $1 less.

Improvement Funds: Eighteen hundred dollars has been subscribed for among the young men of the Y.
M. C. A. for the fund for the proposed improvement of the building, in subscriptions of mostly ten and twenty-five dollars each. The campaign for funds will be continued and efforts to secure large sums will probably be taken up soon.

But One Drunk: But one man was arrested before Judge Field on a charge of intoxication. He was De-gora Rooney, who pleaded guilty to the charge and made arrangements to pay a fine of $3 and costs. He has succeeded in keeping out of court for almost a year and promised that he would maintain good behavior in the future.

Suffragists at Work: A corps of suffrage workers spent the day at the county house copying the city and county poll lists, to secure the ad-make an appeal.

Marriage Licenses: Marriage li-

F. Nitz of the town of Clinton and Amy B. Brockway of Janville; to Chas. E. Glover of Beloit and Myrtle
M. Farrelly of the town of Beloit.

Quail in the City: Nine large quail were seen early this morning on the Discrimination Against Woman.

One of the orders to St. Louis street car conductors is not to reply to a woman when she is angry. This may make for peace, but it will prove a severe blow to the woman who is given to giving away to her temper.

MOYER CIGAR STORE ROBBED LAST NIGHT

Valuable Meerschaum Pipes and Cigar Holders Stolen—Cash
Register Rifled—Barber Shop Entered.

Burglars forced an entrance into the cigar store of Ernest Moyer early this morning and succeeded in getting away with about a dozen meerschaum pipes and two dozen amber cigar and cigarette holders worth $75 to $100. Six dollars was taken from the cash register, besides seven dollars or more in pennies. Fifty-five dollars in the safe, which was unlocked were overlooked by the thieves as was also a quantity of pennies in a tube change-maker. The burglars also entered the barber shop of William Hough, but nothing was found missing except the favorite razor of George Welch, one of the barbers. A cigar holder was picked up there this morning, indicating that the cigar store was first broken into.

Entrance to the cigar store had been obtained by chiseling a hole in the panel about eighteen inches long and two and half inches wide. This enabled the burglar or burglars to push back the spring lock and the bolt and open the door. They came into the barber shop through a trap door from the basement.

The only way in which the burglars could have entered the room at the rear of the cigar store is through a door opening into the Myers hotel wash room. The side door of the hotel is locked after midnight, so the only means of getting into this room would be through the hotel office or the stairway coming up from the basement. On investigation the police found that a panel had been broken out of the basement door and the mark of a foot in the sand which makes it probable that the burglars both entered and left by this route.

Three young men, their ages varying from 21 to 25 years, came to the Myers hotel about 3:30 o'clock this morning in an automobile which they left standing outside. Before entering the lobby they asked Patrolman Doran, who was outside, if he could not tell them where they could get some whiskey. He replied that they would have to wait until the saloons opened in the morning. The young men sat in the lobby for some time and then one of them went away not returning until about an hour later. Then they got into their machine and drove away. The night clerk did not notice when the young men disappeared whether he stepped into the hall or out the front door.
He remembered hearing them speak of Delavan, and this morning Chief of Police Appleby telephoned the city marshal there to watch for young men riding in an old Buick automobile and to hold anyone found in the possession of several meerschaum pipes.

It is very evident that the burglars were familiar with the premises as no stranger would have found the way to the parts of the building entered.

An attempt was also made to rob the pool room of Charles Butts, on West Milwaukee street, apparently by the same men who burglarized the Moyer cigar store. The cellar door in the rear was pushed in and the thieves entered there. The elevator was pulled down and used to carry them to the first floor. Very little stock was in the place as Mr.
Butts is closing out his business and nothing was taken away. A box of pool balls was opened up.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m. 78th meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isotherms (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature, drawn only for zero, freezing, 50°, and 100°.

The barometric depression in the East has remained nearly stationary and has been attended by heavy rains on the New York and New Jersey coasts, 2.52 inches of rainfall being recorded at New York City, and 1.20 at Atlantic City.

The area of high barometer over the central states has moved a little to the eastward, and has been attended by frosts as far south as Montgomery and Memphis. The barometer is high in the Rocky Mountain region, the depression that was so prominent there having moved off to the northward. This change is for the better, and fair weather is likely to continue throughout the week. Central states for the rest of the week.

FIRST MARCONI WIRELESS SCHOOL IN AMERICA OPENS IN NEW YORK; GREAT DEMAND FOR WIRELESS OPERATORS ON LINERS

M. G. Marconi and Marconi Wireless School in New York.

A new profession has opened up for young men. It is wireless telegraphy. In one of the accompanying pictures is shown the first Marconi wireless school in the United States, recently opened in New York. The last congress passed a law making it compulsory for ocean liners to carry two wireless operators each, and the demand for operators now exceeds the supply. The photograph shows students of three different classes practicing the continental codes. It will be noticed that wireless messages are taken through telephone receivers and not on the Morse sounder. The dots and dashes of the Morse code are created by an apparatus which gives an exact duplicate of the sound produced at receiving stations on ships far out at sea.

Only old New Yorkers know that there used to be an island 200 feet off the Battery, and that it was fortified and known as Fort Clinton. The island was connected with the mainland by a draw-bridge. When the waterway was filled in the island became a part of the Battery and was known as Castle garden. As everybody knows, it is now the Aquarium. —New York Press.

But it takes a side show spieler to attract the attention of a certain class of piano buyers. Now we are going to show you how easy it is to put on a "Factory Sale." Like the ancient receipt for cooking a hare, first get your pianos. They cost $68 per, at any of the big factories which cater to the "factory sale" people. You can make it stronger by renting an old shop somewhere (preferably Milwaukee) hire half a dozen "wood butchers" and put them to work assembling pianos, the parts for which can be bought cheaply.

Get your pianos on the ground where you are going to operate, have your strong arm squad on hand for the field and floor work, giving preference to the kind of salesmen that can insert a piano in the home of the most obdurate and separate him from his money. Now begin your advertising campaign, and that is dead easy, as the newspapers have it all cut and dried, both as to cuts and copy. They can instantly produce the cuts shown herein and many others,

Pocket Knife Free With Each Wooley

Boys' Suit at $5 Or Over Tomorrow

THERE are some facts about Wooley Boys' Clothes that every mother of a Janesville boy ought to know. It ought to be generally known that the boy who puts on a Wooley Boy Suit will look better and more manly than the boy who wears ordinary clothing. This is so because Wooley suits are designed to get breadth of shoulder, flat collars and lapels that fit snugly, sleeves that are plenty long enough. It is so because into Wooley suits are put more cloth than usually goes into clothes to fit boys of equal age. It ought to be generally known that this clothing will wear longer than ordinary clothes for boys. This is so because of the good fabrics and because of the good tailor work which sees to it that the clothing is as well made on the inside as it is on the outside, so that it will hold its shape, so that the seams will never pull apart, so that the wear will be long and satisfactory. It ought to be generally known that this better-than-usual clothing for boys costs as little or less than clothing of ordinary sorts. These things are important to Janesville mothers. They lift the Wooley clothes for boys to a plane alone—making them better than the clothes which you can buy in usual good stores; making them even better than the clothes we used to sell when we did the boys' clothing business much the same as other good stores. The fall stocks are the broadest we ever had and the best. Come in and see them tomorrow. Wooley Boys' Suits $5, in plain or Norfolk with two pair of knickers and a beautifully made pocket knife with two blades of best tempered steel and a handsome leather case free. Knife free with higher priced Wooley Boys' Suits, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50 and $10.00.

This is so because of the good fabrics and because of the good tailor work which sees to it that the clothing is as well made on the inside as it is on the outside, so that it will hold its shape, so that the seams will never pull apart, so that the wear will be long and satisfactory. It ought to be generally known that this better-than-usual clothing for boys costs as little or less than clothing of ordinary sorts. These things are important to Janesville mothers. They lift the Wooley clothes for boys to a plane alone—making them better than the clothes which you can buy in usual good stores; making them even better than the clothes we used to sell when we did the boys' clothing business much the same as other good stores. The fall stocks are the broadest we ever had and the best. Come in and see them tomorrow. Wooley Boys' Suits $5, in plain or Norfolk with two pair of knickers and a beautifully made pocket knife with two blades of best tempered steel and a handsome leather case free. Knife free with higher priced Wooley Boys' Suits, $6.50, $7.50, $8.5

THE BARBER—OF THE STONE AGE AND TODAY

"MARRYING PARSON" HOPES TO TIE UP 5,000 COUPLES BEFORE HE RETIRES

Parson Burroughs and his hotel.

The Rev. Harrison Burroughs, the "Marrying Parson" of Bristol, Tenn., recently celebrated his eightieth birthday by marrying his forty-fifth hundredth couple. He believes he holds the world's record for the number of marriages performed by a single individual. Parson Burroughs resigned from the Baptist ministry twenty-three years ago to devote his entire energies to this unique industry. He hopes to round out his career by marrying five thousand couples.

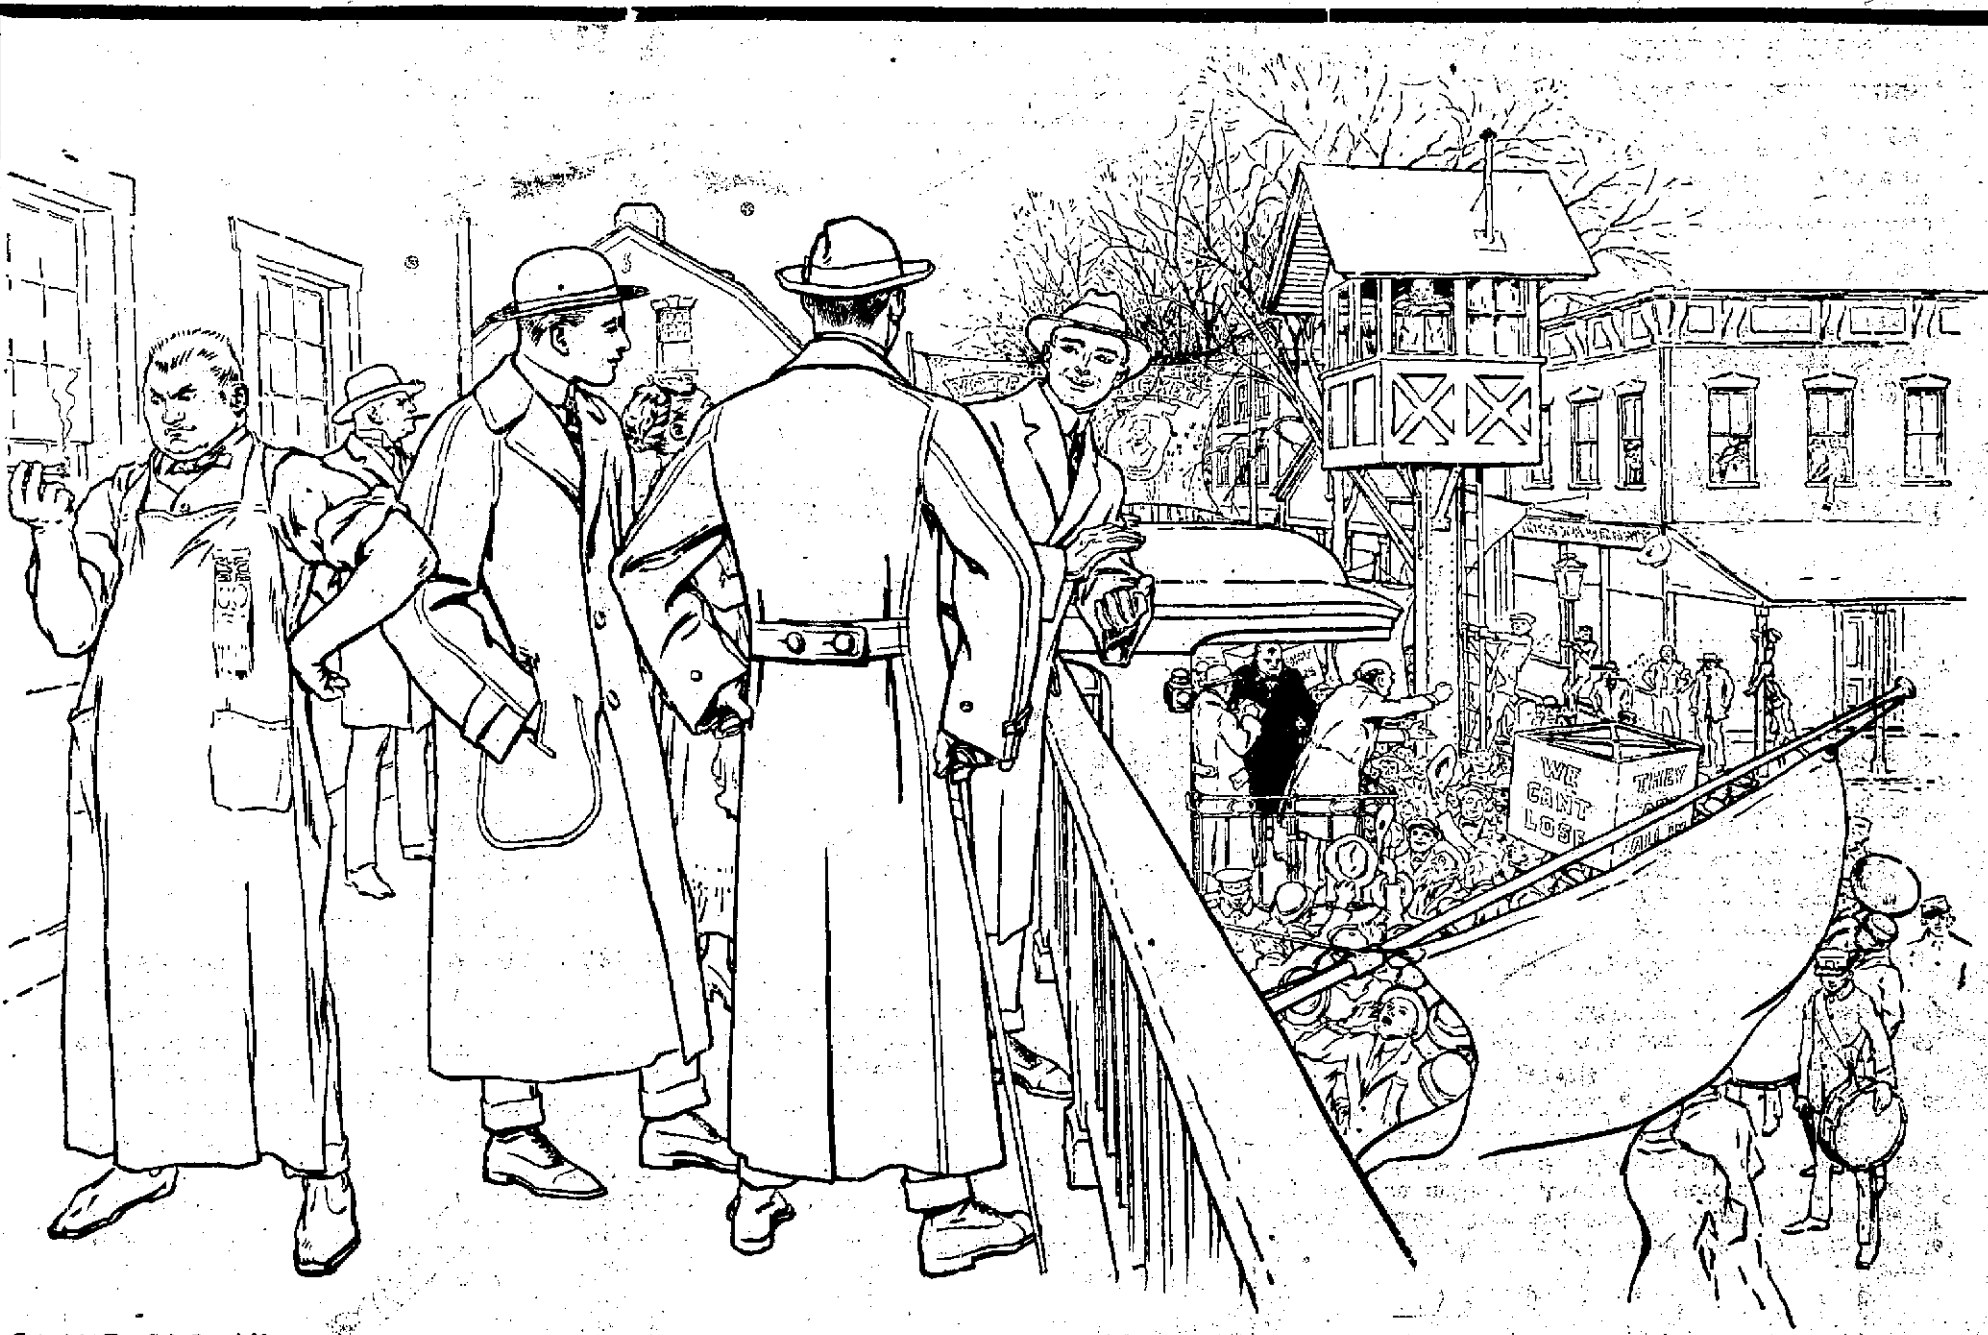

Parson Burroughs is proprietor of what is probably the most famous hotel in the world. It was designed and erected expressly for the convenience of eloping couples. It is situated squarely upon the dividing line between Virginia and Tennessee. Scarcely a day passes that he is not called upon to entertain a number of eloping couples.

Lillian Lorraine is said to be one of the most beautiful women on the American stage. She is appearing this season in "The Politics of 1912."

The Woman Who Sniffs Trouble

THE exigencies of travel, and the unexpected conditions of a convention-crowded city, threw three strangers together, in a religious hospice for the night.

The noises of the city had gradually stilled, and nearby chimneys had struck two, when one of the women suddenly exclaimed, "I smell smoke!"

The others stirred drowsily.

"Don't you smell it?" she asked.

One woman sniffed a bit, and said she thought she did smell it a little.

At this, the first woman sat up on the edge of her bed and sniffed loudly.

"I smell it quite strong," she said. "I am nervous about fire, because it always seems to follow me. In Vancouver, I had to jump out of a third story window."

At this, the woman who smelled it a little sat up and sniffed. "I do smell it," she decided.

The third woman muttered things and said, "I don't smell it at all."

"Oh, I don't know," chorused the other two. "We both smell it."

"What would you do?" asked the lady after whom fire was tagged.

"Well, at any rate," said the other sniffer, "the fire-escapes are right at the end of the hall. I saw them as I came to my room."

"But it seems to me," said the first lady, "that we ought to do something. Think of all the people in the house who will be burned to death!"

"Goodness!" exclaimed the second lady jumping out of bed. "I think I'll get my things together."

"There isn't any fire," said the third lady. "You're foolish. Go to bed."

"But she says fire always follows her," objected the second lady.

"Rubbish!" muttered the third, trying to stop her ears.

"I saw the housekeeper's room as I came up," said the first lady. "I think I'll go tell her."

"The idea!" exclaimed the third lady from under the bed-covers. "She won't thank you to wake her up."

"Fire is a serious matter," said the second lady pinning on her puffs.

"It certainly is," replied the first lady with dignity. "I am going to call her."

She went out into the hall and rapped on the housekeeper's door.

"I smell smoke," she said in response to the inquiry from within.

There was an unintelligible sound from the housekeeper's room. Then an irate voice said, "They're building next door, and that smell is something they're using on the roof."

"Well, it's better to be sure," said the first lady, coming back into the room and getting into bed.

The second lady took off her puffs and also retired.

The third lady said some more things under the bed-covers. Then, once more silence fell, broken only by the chimneys ringing the half hour.

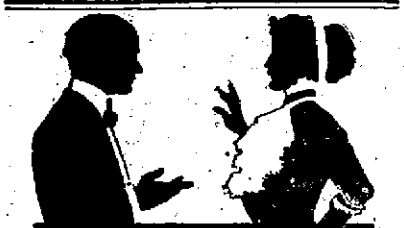

"That was quite a scare we had last night," said the second lady the next morning, when the first lady had departed.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the third lady. "I guess if it hadn't been smoke, it would have been something else. I think she is the kind who is always sniffing trouble of some sort."

"NO-BODY LOVES A BALD MAN"

Every day we see YOUNG men and women, who have grown prematurely grey. They immediately fall into the "Old Age" class, because grey hairs are so closely associated with OLD AGE.

It is extremely disconcerting and humiliating to be bald—to be grey when the years do not justify it. The girls laugh at the young men so married—the young men soon learn to discriminate between natural hair in its full bloom of health and NATURAL COLOR, and shabby looking grey and faded hair.

Give nature a chance. If she is encouraged, stimulated, assisted, she will give you a head of hair that you will be proud of.

Give it to her. Use

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and cures the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 3/4 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps and a cough.

You probably know the medicinal value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with each recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, BUT DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Give Your Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels a Thorough Cleansing Without Gripe or Nausea. Ends Headache, Biliousness, Indigestion and Constipation.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver and bowel cleanser—tonic—not as an irritant. Its action is natural and gentle—no gripping. It is delicious—no dreading. It is positive and prompt—no waiting.

If your stomach is sour and filled with vile gases, your head aches, you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, hazy, sick, your tongue coated, your thirty feet of bowels clogged with waste not properly carried off—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and in the morning all constipated waste, sour bile, gases and poisons will move on and out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no gripping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people let these matters run until they needed a large dose of physic, then they took something severe, like castor oil, salts or cathartics, that meant abuse to the bowels. These are the days of the gentle and natural—the days of Syrup of Figs. This way you are not drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatics, can not cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the same, California Fig Syrup Company on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other so-called Fig Syrup is an imitation often meant to deceive you. Refuse such with contempt.

WEALTHY CITIZENS ESCAPE INCOME TAX

MAJORITY OF JANESVILLE'S AMOUNT WILL BE PAID BY MEN OF MODERATE MEANS.

EFFECT ON POOR MAN

Is Evident When It Is Noted That Heavy Corporation Taxes Will Be Shifted Upon the Consumer.

An examination of the income tax roll for this city, now open for inspection in the county clerk's office, shows the usual wide disparity between theory and practical results in our progressive legislation during the last few years. It has been the chief argument for this piece of inequity that the tax would be paid by those who heretofore have escaped. The roll shows, however, that numerous reputedly wealthy citizens of Janesville still escape and that the bulk of the tax here will be paid by people of moderate means. A very few pay more than a hundred dollars and more than two-thirds pay less than twenty-five dollars. Some of the moderately well-to-do pay more than twenty-five, but the majority of the whole number taxable pay less than ten dollars. Hence the maxim, "Soak it to the rich," has failed to stick.

The city of Janesville will pay a little less than twelve thousand dollars individual income tax on the face of the roll, but more than two-thirds of the bill will be offset by personal property tax receipts, so that the gain is more apparent than real.

Of course the corporation income tax will total about seven times the individual tax, or about $80,000, as assessed by the tax commission, but here again the poor man will reap no advantage. On the contrary, as it is an elementary proposition in economics that a corporation tax will invariably be shifted to the consumer, the poor man will be stuck for this $80,000 by means of a raise in the price of the commodity dealt in by the corporation.

Let our progressive guardians at Madison stand by this economic proposition, let it be said that La Follette himself has said so, and then let them deny it, if they dare.

The corporation tax is one of the worst features of this law, as can be easily shown. For if a corporation earns more than $10,000 net, the rate climbs to six per cent and is taken out of profits that otherwise would go into dividends. Whereas, if the individual stockholder were to be taxed on the dividend he receives, as per cent of his individual income, the rate would be most certainly extended to two per cent. Nor would the stockholder then be able to shift the burden onto the consumer.

Let the average man who finds his income tax assessed at six dollars or sixteen dollars or sixty dollars stop and reflect that there are only eight residents of Janesville who are assessed at more than $200, and only one of those eight who is assessed at more than $500; and it will be apparent at once that the law hits the great middle class of moderate means, men who perhaps own their own homes and pay real estate taxes on them and who may have two or three thousand laid by for a rainy day.

The result of this first year's experiment with this piece of adulated legislation is that it proves itself to be merely an additional tax upon those who were already taxed to the point where patience ceases to be a virtue. A little more common sense and a great deal less "progressivism" is badly needed at Madison.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE CONTRACTOR.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE contractor is a hopeful mechanic who agrees to build a house by the day, and usually winds up by building it by the year.

A structural contract is a long-winded contract which protects the builder against everything except the extras. It contains a good deal of language which the party of the first part never understands until it is explained to him by the prosecuting attorney.

A good lawyer can take one of these contracts and make a something out of it, from a marriage certificate to an agreement to invest in a rubber plantation.

This is due to the fine print, which throws off jokers, loop-holes and side entrances faster than the tariff schedules.

Every contractor has a force of movable carpenters who are never found in the same spot two days in succession. This usually enables the plasterers to begin their work about the time the fall rains set in.

When a man is building a house which he would like to move into before he dies, he ropes and ties the contractor with a forfeiture clause, then chuckles loudly to his wife. The contractor, however, comes back with a bill of extras that makes the original contract price look like the collection at a missionary tent. This causes a strong bond of affection to spring up between the contractor and the builder, and this bond is seldom severed outside of the district court.

The contractor has a good deal to put up with. One of his worst annoyances is the tight citizen who expects him to throw in a few extra bay windows and use circassian walnut instead of yellow pine, and take his pay in well-chosen words of gratitude. He also has to deal with the man who decides to move, the dining room around the east side, after the wall is up on this account, very few contractors carry a surplus stock of sweet Christian charity.

The contractor is always being delayed by the weather or a foreman who has just come down with measles, or the death of a second cousin of his wife on her mother's side, in all other respects he is a model citizen and his wife is one long-drawn-out dream of peace.

At The Theatre

"THE COMMON LAW." The dramatization of "The Common Law" by Robert W. Chambers, A. H. Woods' splendid, unqualified successful production which comes to the Myers Theatre, Friday evening, Oct. 25, as, in the case of most novels dramatized, does not follow the book too closely inasmuch as the stage requirements demand action and speed, brevity and terseness and a comprehensive grasp of the story such as no book could be. A dramatization is like an impressionistic picture, the highlights stand out in bold relief from the shadows and the result, though nothing when looked at closely, become a beautiful picture regarded at some distance.

In presenting a story in book form, it is possible for the reader to go back and read over again any point where he has the slightest doubt. It is obvious that on the stage such a proceeding is impossible. It would never do because someone in situations and thrilling climaxes that speak well for the popularity of this new play.

Manager Woods has bestowed the greatest possible consideration in making up the cast for "The Common Law" and the production, which is carried in its entirety, meaning not only the scenic part, but the furniture and furnishings as well are provided on the most lavish scale.

"A GIRL OF THE UNDERWORLD."

"A Girl of the Underworld" that plays at the Myers Theatre, Sunday, Oct. 27, matinee and evening, has the distinction of being the best comedy drama before the public. In some cases it has been the prevailing thought that "A Girl of the Underworld" is risqué vulgar and suggestive. Its author, Jack Gorman, wishes to announce emphatically that "A Girl of the Underworld" will not offend or cause one pang of shame dur-

IN COMMEMORATION PATRON SAINT TODAY

Today is the feast day of St. John of Beverley, who lived in an age when the Benedictine monasteries were to the Anglo-Saxons home of piety, centers of industry and schools of learning. In those far-off times the monk who left his cloister to rule a diocese gathered around him crowds of eager students. St. John of Beverley was one of those monastic bishops. He spent his early youth at Whitby under St. Hilda; and was afterwards raised to the see of Hexham, and then to that of York. He there founded a school which became celebrated for its learning, yet none was too ignorant for St. John to find time to interest himself in his spiritual welfare. He died A. D. 731, and is still venerated as the special patron of the deaf and dumb.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Whitefield Griffith announce that their daughter, Sallie, will be married at their home in Vicksburg, Miss., Wednesday evening, November 6th, to Dr. Adna Godfrey Wilde, of the United States army. Dr. Wilde is located at Fort Flagler, Washington. The bride-to-be is a sister of Mrs. C. P. Beers of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Griffith have frequently visited in Janesville and will be remembered by many friends. Mrs. Beers is now visiting at Vicksburg and will be present at the wedding.

Insist on Removal of Queues.

Military rowdies were again stopping inoffensive coolies and others whom they suspect of wearing queues, in the streets of Nanking, and relieving them of the objectionable appendages a few weeks ago, there being great activity in this direction, and in some places the streets were fairly littered with shorn hair. Not only were queues cut off, but the long locks which numbers of coolies have lately taken to wearing hanging down on their shoulders were also submitted to the shears, and in a good many cases the victims of the operation were found to be still in possession of a cherished queue tightly coiled around their heads and cleverly concealed by the above mentioned unkempt and unsightly tresses. Whenever scissors wielding soldiers discovered a coolie practicing this sort of deception they nearly scalped the poor fellow in their indignation. —Peking Daily News.

TAILED ME WITHOUT CAUSE, SAYS LUNN

Rev. George R. Lunn.

Rev. George R. Lunn, mayor of Schenectady, N. Y., is bitter against the authorities of White Plains, N. Y., for having recently caused his arrest and imprisonment for addressing strikers on the streets of White Plains without a permit from the mayor. "I was arrested for quoting Abraham Lincoln, speaking in a park where but a few days before Straus and Davenport were allowed to speak," says Lunn. A number of other Socialists were locked up at the same time for speaking to the strikers. Mayor Lunn is running for congress in the district in which White Plains is situated.

IMPERIAL FAMILY DIVIDED BY FEUD

Archduke Ferdinand and Duchess Sophie.

Secret strife is rending the Imperial Austrian family. Only respect for the venerable Kaiser Franz Joseph keeps it from open warfare. Since 1905, when Archduke Franz Ferdinand practically took control of the empire, the 12 archdukes and archduchesses of the family have been divided into two warring camps. About twenty stand with Ferdinand; the remainder are banded together to resist to the death the heir and his pretensions. The trouble arises over the fact that Duchess Sophie is not of royal birth.

Englishman Returns a Relic. The duke of Sutherland, who has just arrived in New York, seems to be a "good sport." He was on the Olympic when it was tied up by a strike, and offered to stake on the passage. He has bought much land in Canada and is urging his friends to go there and be real farmers. But the primary purpose of this long journey, as he proudly announced, is to deliver to the New York Yacht club the sternpiece of the original yacht America, which won the famous cup in 1851. On this sternpiece there is an eagle, with wings spread, and the name of the yacht. The old cup winner was remodeled in England and the sternpiece was placed over the door of a hotel in Ryde, Isle of Wight. SCENE FROM "KINDLING."

the audience does not understand a particular line to stop the play and do it all over again for the benefit of one person. Thus a stage story must be told plainly and in the most unclouded manner. There must be no doubt or speculation on the part of the audience as to what a line or situation means. Nothing must be veiled, everything must be brought out clearly and concisely.

"The Common Law" tells a remarkable love story between two people, both gifted with rare intelligence and powers of reasoning not usually accorded to most mortals. The man wants to marry the girl, and the girl wants to marry the man, but the girl thinks their positions in life are different, that she belongs to a different set than the one of which he is a member. She fears that their marriage will result in ruining his career and making him unhappy. This is worked out with due regard to stage requirements and the result is that the somewhat simple story Mr. Chambers has written, has been worked up into a series of gripping ing its four beautiful acts. There is not one suggestive line in this play. Mothers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts, don't for one second hesitate about seeing "A Girl of the Underworld." It tells the truth, it tells facts; it is a great big, grand, one night's entertainment. See a touch of true to nature sentiment in "A Girl of the Underworld." You will be better morally, physically, mentally, and intellectually after seeing the greatest play in a decade.

"KINDLING." The atmosphere of Sarah Padden's "Kindling" is distinctly country club. The young star is an ardent devotee of golf and is likely to show more interest in a new wooden faced club than in a discussion of her stellar honors. Even with the inconveniences of travel and frequent matinees, she nearly always finds time to visit the golf courses in the cities she plays. Miss Padden will appear here in the much discussed Kenyon play Saturday, Nov. 2, matinee and night.

KAREL MAKES A VERY SHORT STAY IN CITY

Democratic Candidate For Governor Came Here From Sharon Late Last Night.

Judge John C. Karel, of Milwaukee, democratic candidate for Governor, reached Janesville last evening, shortly before midnight after delivering an address at Sharon and left this morning on an early train for Marshfield to continue his whirlwind campaign of the state. It had been expected he would come to Janesville earlier in the evening by auto but connections were missed and many who assembled at the Grand Hotel to greet him were disappointed although a few of the leaders of the democratic party were on hand and talked over the situation. Benjamin Steinel of Milwaukee and Calvin Stewart of Kenosha, democratic candidate for congress, accompanied Mr. Karel. It is hoped that arrangements can be made for an address here at some date before election and the democratic county committee is working with this in view.

At Sharon last evening Judge Karel paid his compliments to Senator La Follette, saying in part as follows: "Tell me, kind friends, how can Senator La Follette consistently support Gov. McGovern this fall, after his repeated statements to the effect that Theodore Roosevelt, whom Gov. McGovern is backing, is a standpat? How can Senator La Follette consistently support a man who is progressive in state affairs but a standpat on national policies?" Judge Karel put in a strenuous day, making stops at Beloit, Delavan, Williams Bay, Fontana, and Walworth.

WINTER.

Remove From Auto, Rims, Wash and Wrap and Store in Dark Place.

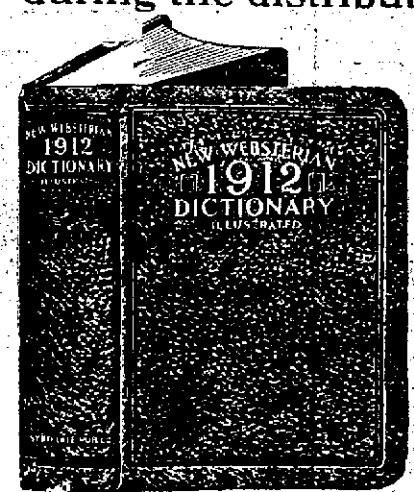

Within the next four weeks thousands of motorists in all parts of the country will be laying up their cars for the winter. Hundreds of these cars are equipped with good tires, which, if properly taken care of during the cold months, will be in serviceable condition next spring.

The percentage of tire waste during a winter's inactivity is large, due in a majority of instances to the fact that owners do not know how to store their tires to protect them against the ravages of cold weather. To reduce this waste the service bureau of a large tire company gives some timely advice on the subject.

In laying up a car the tires should be removed from the rims and washed thoroughly with soap and water. They should then be carefully wrapped in strips of paper or cloth and stored in a dark place which is kept as nearly as

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, October 24, 1872.—The Review pleads guilty to the commission of an error in placing the name of Doctor Evans in its ticket, throws itself on the mercy of the court and removes the offending name from its political head line. Then the Review proceeds to chide the Gazette gently yet firmly and says its republicanism remains unshaken. It pleases us to see the Review thus promptly acknowledge its offense and we are willing to submit to its chastening that it is back in its old harness ready to assist in the consummation of republican hopes.

On several occasions recently the disposition to indulge in the pan serenade as an accompaniment to wedding festivities has exhibited itself in this city. Last night the first and the disgraceful pastime was renewed by a crowd of rowdies who kept up their hideous chorus for half an hour to the great annoyance of the victims of the orgies. This spirit of lawlessness should be met by prompt investigation and a prosecution of the offenders if they can be singled out.

H. N. Comstock was present at the first ward caucus last night and in his efforts to produce a lead pencil from his side pocket a revolver was accidentally discharged, the bullet passing through the palm of Mr. Comstock's right hand, striking the collar-bone and falling back among the astonished inmates of the room. Luckily the bullet went between the bones inflicting only a flesh wound.

A special train from Clinton Junction informs us that a man named Tilston was so badly crushed between the platform of the freight depot and one of the cars of a passenger train on the Western Union road this morning that he survived his injuries only twenty minutes. He came from St. Paul and was on his way to Racine to visit his brother.

The trotting match announced a short time ago as having been arranged between several of the horse owners in this county will take place Saturday afternoon of this week for a purse of two hundred dollars. Pools will be sold at the Opera House saloon tomorrow afternoon.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams BY WALT MASON

This life we lead is far from nice, and going broke's our only goal. So long we've blown ourselves for ice! And now we blow ourselves for coal. We dig, we delve, we weave, we spin, to have a package when we're old, and now we have to blow it in for drugs to cure a doggone cold. The northern wind comes down and moans and plays its same old spiteful games, and we MELANCHOLIA must blow our hoarded bones for rags to wrap around our frames. The Christmas spirit is abroad, the day will soon come down the tracks, and we must blow our little wads for evergreen and shiny jacks. We blow ourselves for this and that, and gather 'til we have the blues; some misery for the housewife's hat, some griefers for the children's shoes. We dig, we delve, we weave, we spin, to put the hungry wolf to rout, and here's little coming in, and money always going out! A shilling for a can of who's a shaker for some rough on rats, a doobion for a hunk of hay to feed our starving thomas cats! And thus the winters always bring an ending to our saving scheme, and we smile and dance and sing we only do it when we dream.

The Lady of the Mount

by FREDERIC S. ISNAM
AUTHOR OF "THE STROLLERS," "UNDER THE ROSE," ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATERS
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY THE BOBBY-MERRILL CO.

Near the verge of the sand, Saladin greeted her with impatience, tossing his head toward the darkening heavens. Nor did he wait until she was fairly seated before starting back at a rapid gate along the shore. But the girl offered no protest; her face showed only enjoyment. A little wild he might be at times, as became one of rugged ancestry, but never vicious, only headstrong! And she didn't mind that.

Already had he begun to slack that first thundering pace when something white—a veil, perhaps, dropped from the cavalcade of lords and ladies some days before on the land and waited to the beach—fluttered like a live thing suddenly before him. In his tense mood, Saladin, affrighted, sprang to one side; then, wheeling outright, madly took the bit in his teeth. Perforce his mistress resigned herself, sitting straight and sure, with little hands hard and firm at the reins. Saladin was behaving very badly, but—at least he was superb, worth conquering.

A brief thrill of apprehension seized her as, again drawing near the point of land, he showed no signs of yielding, resisted all her attempts to turn, to direct him to the left. With nostrils thrust forward and breathing strong, he continued to choose his own course; to whirl her on; past the promontory; around into the great bay beyond—now a vast expanse, or desert of sand, broken only about halfway across, by the small isle of Casque. Toward this rocky formation, a pygmy to the great Mount from which it lay concealed by the intervening projection of land, the horse rushed.

On, on! In vain she still endeavored to stop him; thinking uneasily of stories the fishermen told of this neighboring coast; of the sands that often shifted here, setting pitfalls for the unwary. She saw the sky grow yet darker, noted the nearer flashings of light, and heard the louder rumblings that followed. Then presently another danger she had long been conscious of, on a sudden became real.

She saw, or thought she saw, a faint streak, like a silver line drawn across the sky where the yellow sands touched the somber horizon. And Saladin seemed to observe it, too; to detect in it cause for wonder; reason for hesitation. At any rate, that headlong speed now showed signs of diminishing; he clipped and tossed the sand less vigorously, and looked around at his mistress with wild, uneasy eyes. Again she spoke to him; pulled with all her strength at the reins, and, at once, he stopped.

None too soon! Great drops of rain had begun to fall, but the girl did not notice them. The white line alone riveted her attention! It seemed to grow broader; to acquire an intangible movement of its own; at the same time to give out a sound—a strange, low droning that filled the air. Heard for the first time, a stranger at the Mount would have found it inexplicable; to the Governor's daughter, the menacing cadence left no room for doubt as to its origin.

The girl's cheek paled; her gaze swung in the opposite direction, toward the point of land, now so distant. Could they reach it? She did not believe they could; indeed, the "grand" tide coming up behind on the verge of the storm, faster than any horse could gallop, would overtake them midway. And Saladin seemed to know it also; beneath her, he trembled. Yet must they try, she thought, and had lightened the reins to turn, when looking ahead once more, she discerned a break in the forbidding cliffs of the little island of Casque, and, back of the fissure, a shining spot which marked a tiny cove.

A moment she hesitated; what should she do? Ride toward the isle and the white danger, or toward the point of mainland and from it? Either alternative was a desperate one, but the isle lay much nearer; and quickly, the brown eyes gleaming with sudden courage, she decided; touched her horse and pressed him forward. But fast as she went the "grand"

CHAPTER VIII.

The Old Watch-Tower.

A wall. A window—a prison-like interior! As her eyes opened, the Governor's daughter strove confusedly to decipher her surroundings. The wall seemed real; the narrow window, too, high above, framing, against a darkening background, a slant of fine rain! Again she closed her eyes, only to be conscious of a gentle languor; a heaviness like that of half-sleep; of bodily heat, and also a little bodily pain. For an indefinite period, really a moment or two, she resigned herself to that dreamy torpor; then, with an effort, lifted her lashes once more.

As she gazed before her, something bright seemed leaping back and forth; a flame—that played on the wall; revealing the joints between the stones of massive masonry; casting shadows, but to wipe them out; "paling near" a small window, the only aperture apparent in the cell-like place. Turning from the flickering, her glance quickly sought their source—a fire in a hearth, before which she lay—or half-sat, propped against a stone.

But why? The spot was strange; in her ears sounded a buzzing, like the murmur of a waterfall. She remembered now; she had lingered before one—in the woods; and Saladin had run away—madly, across the sands, until—my lady raised her hand to her brow, abruptly let it fall. In the shadow on the other side of the hearth some one moved; some one who had been watching her, and who, now stepped out into the light.

"Are you better?" said a voice. She stared. On the bold, swarthy features of a young man now standing and looking down at her, the light flared and gleamed; the open shirt revealed a muscular throat; the downturned black eyes were steady, solicitous. His appearance was unexpected, yet not quite strange; she had seen him before, but, in the general surprise and perplexity of the moment, did not ask herself where. The interval between what she last remembered on the beach—the rush and swirl of water—and what she woke to, absorbed the hazy workings of her mind.

The young man stopped; stirred the fire, and after a pause, apparently to give her time to collect her thoughts, repeated his question: "Are you better, now?"

"Oh, yes," she said, with an effort, half sitting up. And then irrelevantly, with rather a wild glance about her: "Isn't— isn't it storming outside?" "A little—not much—" A smile crossed the dark features. "I remember," she added, as if forcing herself to speak, "it had just begun to rain on the beach, when it—the 'grand' tide—" The words died away, mechanically she lifted her hand, brushed back the shining waves of hair.

"Why think of it now?" he interposed gently.

"But," uncertainly she smoothed her skirt; it was damp and warm; "I suppose this is the island of Casque?" "Yes." "And this place?" "The old watch-tower." "But how—" Then she noticed that his hands, long, brown and well-formed, were cut and bruised; bore many jagged marks as from a fierce struggle. "How did you hurt your hands?"

He thrust them into his pockets.

"Was it from the rocks—and the waves? How did I get here?" "Oh, I was standing on the cliff," he answered carelessly, "and—saw your horse running away!" "You did? And then—came down?" "What else was there to do?" he said simply.

Her gaze returned to the fire. "But the tide was rushing in—rushing! It was right upon me!" She looked again toward the pockets into which his hands were thrust; observed his shirt, torn at the shoulder; then arose unsteadily. "I know—it was not so easy!" she said. "It was brave of you."

"Your Ladyship is no coward!" he interrupted, a sparkle in his eyes. "When you turned the horse toward the tide, I was watching; hoping you would dare, and you did!"

About to reply, she became once more aware she was still very dizzy from the fall on the sand; the shapely figure swayed and she put out her hand with a gesture of helplessness. At the same time, the man reached forward, quickly and caught her. A moment was she conscious of a firm grasp; a dark, anxious gaze bent upon her; then, slid gently back, to the stone seat.

A brief interval, and gradually she began to see again more distinctly—a man's face, not far from hers; a face that drew back as her own look cleared. At a respectful distance he now stood, his bearing at once erect and buoyant, and more curiously she regarded him. A distinct type, here pride and intelligence stamped themselves strongly on the dark, handsome features; courage and daring were written on the bold, self-reliant brow. And with this realization of something distinctive, compelling, in his personality, came another.

"I have seen you—spoken with you before! On the beach—the night of the dance!" The young man turned. "Your Ladyship so far honored me—as to dance with me!" he said, in his eyes a touch of that brightness that had caused her to regard him imperiously, as he had swung her to the measure of the music; on the occasion in question.

"Started to?" She corrected him, straightening suddenly at the recollection of that evening, when humility and modesty, were virtues conspicuously wanting in his demeanor.

"Your Ladyship is right," he said quietly. "An alarm from the Mount interrupted."

She glanced at him quickly. His eyes met hers with a look of unconcern.

"At times—a hunter."

"Are you a fisherman?" she asked abruptly. "On occasions." "And when you are not one—what are you then?" "At times—a hunter."

"Ah!" Her eye lingered on something bright on the ledge beneath the window. "And that is the reason you have—pistols?"

"Exactly, my Lady!" She continued to regard the weapons, of finest workmanship, inlaid with a metal that gleamed dully, like gold, in the light from the fire. His glance followed hers; she was about to speak, when quickly he interrupted.

"Has your Ladyship thought how she is going to get back to the Mount?"

He neither affirmed, nor denied. "And the tide will not be out for hours!" Her look showed consternation; she glanced toward the opening in the wall. "Isn't it becoming dark now?" "Yes, my Lady."

"Of course, it was almost sundown when— But I must return at once! Don't you understand?"

He regarded her silently; the beautiful, impatient eyes; the slim, white fingers that tapped restlessly, one against another. "I will do what I can!" he said at last slowly.

"But what?" she demanded. "What can you do?" He did not answer; my lady made a gesture. "How ridiculous! A prisoner on an island!"

"There may be a way," he began. "My horse?" she said quickly. "What became of him?"

"He was swept away by the tide!" Into the proud eyes came a softer light—of regret, pain. "Your Ladyship should remember it might have been worse," he added, in tones intended to reassure her. "After all, it was only a horse."

"Only a horse!" she exclaimed indignantly. "But, I suppose you can't understand—caring for a horse!" "I can understand caring for a ship!" he answered quickly, a flash of amusement, hardly concealed, in his bold, dark eyes.

"A ship!" scornfully, "dead wood and iron!" "Live wood and iron! Beautiful as—" The simile failed him; he looked at my lady. "Something to be depended on, with a hand to the wheel, and an eye keen for mad dances and curvettings."

"I might appreciate them better," she interrupted dryly, with delicate brows uplifted, "if they brought me nearer to the Mount. That, and not idle opinions," in accents that conveyed surprise at the temerity of one in his position to express them, "is of most moment!"

He accepted the reproach with a readiness that further surprised her. "Your Ladyship is right," he said. "I will see what may be done. The storm has passed. There is yet daylight, and—" an expression, almost preoccupied, came to his features—"a boat may be sighted."

"To be sure!" At the prospect, all other considerations passed from my lady's mind. "A boat may be sighted! Why did you not think of it before? Come! Too much time has already been lost." And she rose.

"One moment!" His voice was quiet; respectful; although, she fancied, constrained. "I had better go alone. The way to the cliff is rough, and—" "I shall not mind that!" "Besides, your clothes—" "Are dry!"

"No!" She flushed at the abrupt contradiction. "I mean, I don't see how they could be!" he went on hurriedly, "and," his tone assumed a certain obduracy, "I assure your Ladyship, it will be best."

"Best?" She looked at him more sharply. "Is that your only reason?" "Why?" A trace of embarrassment, for an instant, crossed his dark features. "What other reason, my Lady?" (To be Continued.)

When Candy is Good for a Child.

The average healthy child of ten or 12 should be able to eat of pure candy, the equivalent in weight of two or three lumps of sugar after his mid-day meal. This, however, should not be given him unless other proper foods, in sufficient quantity, are eaten, and should never be allowed between meals. Butter-fatty and molasses candy, made at home of pure materials, are especially to be recommended, and may be considered valuable articles of food.—Jean Williams, M. D., in Woman's Home Companion.
